Subject: RE: Aramco CSD approval - Element

Dear Mr. Muhammad Bilal,

We acknowledge that your new company name Element Saudi Arabia Co. Ltd. can maintain the approval status in place of Exova Saudi Arabia Co. Ltd for all the mechanical, metallurgical and corrosion tests services already approved. This approval is granted based on the fact that EXOVA had been acquired by Element Materials Technology effective 29th June 2017. Since that date, the two companies businesses have been integrated into 'Element'. In addition, the new company in Saudi Arabia has updated their information in Saudi Aramco Electronic Contracting Network (ECN) Portal and updated their ISO 17025 schedule from UKAS.

Your new approval status has been already communicated with all concerned organizations & personnel in Saudi Aramco.

Regards,

Tariq A. Alghamdi, Ph.D.

Dear Dr Tariq,

You may recall that we wrote to you in July to inform you that Exova had been acquired by Element Materials Technology effective 29th June 2017. Since that date, the two companies have been working together to integrate our businesses into a single organisation that will be known as 'Element' in the future. Element's newly combined business makes us the #1 testing provider in the global aerospace and oil & gas sectors, and market leaders in U.S. transportation and automotive and Middle East infrastructure / construction testing markets. With over 200 laboratories and over 6700 employees worldwide, we enable your access to increased capacity, capability and expertise for all of your existing and future materials testing, product qualification testing, calibration, certification and consulting needs.

We now kindly request you to approve our name as Element Saudi Arabia Co. Ltd. in your database in place of Exova Saudi Arabia Co. Ltd for all the services already approved.

I have attached our updated ISO 17025 schedule from UKAS and Aramco vendor portal update.

Your kind response will be highly appreciated.
